

Be irrationally crazy about kids.
Children respond to those who enjoy being around them.

Children are drawn to adults who see the best in them. Cultivate a strength-based perspective, and learn to see your most difficult kids through a positive lense. Your new outlook will change how you feel about them, and how they feel about themselves.