

Give kids what they need,
not what they expect.
Don't validate their harmful self-fulfilling prophecies.

For some kids, predictable failure is better than unpredictable success. Abused or abandoned youth may try to lure us into re-enacting familiar roles of Abuser or Abandoner. Give them the understanding they need, rather than the rejection they expect.