

When in doubt, LISTEN.

Feelings are never inappropriate, even when actions are.

Children raised in harsh environments often react to overwhelming feelings by blowing up, melting down, or shutting down. When we listen calmly without judging or punishing, we provide a way for them to experience and vent their strong emotions safely.