

Build your resilience daily.
Don't run on empty. Self-care is NOT selfishness.

It's easy to empty your own emotional reserves caring for others, then have nothing left for yourself. Recognize when your strength is waning, and take the time to recharge your batteries by engaging in fulfilling relationships and activities.